You've Suffered a Painful Slip and Fall - Now What?

If you have suffered a slip and fall in the grocery store, restaurant, gym, office building, or in another public place, you know it can happen in an instant. Please don't assume that your slip and fall injury was, in some way, your fault. If you were injured on another's property, it is important to understand that it is the owner's responsibility to keep the environment safe, preventing injuries such as yours. When a property owner or the person responsible for the property fails to keep the area safe for the public, they may have exhibited negligence and may be responsible for your injuries.

If you have ever suffered a slip and fall, whether in public, on another's property, or at work, you likely experienced a mixture of embarrassment and pain, as well as a significant injury. If the hard surface comes into contact with a fleshy part of the body, it is likely the injuries will be less severe—although still painful and serious. If a person's bones or skull connect with the hard surface, the resulting injuries can be much more traumatic. In the most severe instances of a slip and fall, the injured person could face astronomical medical expenses and may be unable to return to his or her normal job.

At The Law Offices of Dianne Sawaya, we understand what an extremely emotional time this is for you. A slip and fall injury can take you entirely by surprise, and if you do not have the proper help, you may be devastated by the medical, financial, and emotional consequences of that fall. Call Dianne Sawaya today—get the experienced, knowledgeable, and compassionate legal help you need following your slip and fall accident.

Potato Stacks with Garlic, Thyme & Parmesan

Ingredients

- 1 1/2 cups heavy cream
- 1 sprig of fresh thyme
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 2 lbs. medium russet potatoes (about 4-5), peeled and sliced 1/8 to 1/16 inch thick
- 1 tsp. kosher salt
- 1/2 tsp. black pepper
- Freshly grated parmesan cheese

Special Tools

- 12-cup standard muffin pan
- Mandoline Slicer

Directions

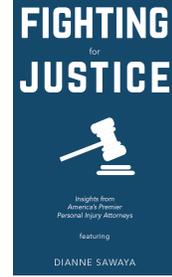

1. Preheat the oven to 375F. Spray a 12-cup standard muffin pan with nonstick cooking spray.
2. In a small saucepan, whisk together cream, thyme, garlic, and nutmeg. Bring to a slow simmer and remove from the heat. You want the cream just heated through. Discard the thyme.
3. Toss the potato slices with salt and pepper and layer them into stacks in the prepared muffin cups, filling each one to the top but not over the top.
4. Spoon cream over each potato stack, filling almost to the top. You will have a couple or so slices exposed. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese.
5. Bake for 25-30 minutes or until the potatoes are knife-tender and golden brown on top.
6. Remove the muffin pan from the oven and let sit for 5 minutes. Run a knife around the edges to loosen up the stacks and carefully remove them to a serving platter. Serve immediately.
